

How is IMC helping a Multinational Company to become one of the fastest-growing Startups?

Our client is an international AI-powered identity verification solution provider offering intelligent, precise, and automated online identity verification services. Their proprietary technology leverages more than 1,000 data points to give transparent responses and provide security and trust for businesses. Verification is the biggest challenge in online identity. Our Client's video-first approach offers the most accurate online verification service. In contrast, competitors in the market have concentrated on document data extraction and quick verifications.

Highlights

- The Company has experienced exponential growth over the past years, and are indenting to increase the size of the worldwide team in 2023. It takes a great deal of paperwork, red tape, and time to establish a legal entity in a new place.
- The client needed to hire quickly from all over the world and IMC services were the best to support the expansion.
- No matter where we were, our skilled team was always there for them and had a solution.

Solution

We answered every query relating to payroll, taxes, benefits, and employment law. Since cultural diversity is essential to the success of any business and economy, hiring individuals from other countries is pretty much the norm for startups.

A great company's culture, as well as the team's diversity of cultures, is what sets it apart from an average one.

Result

Since we started taking services from IMC, there have unquestionably been noticeable advantages. We've saved a tonne of time and money while at the same time lightening the administrative burden on the team. Having a partner who can manage the interests of all parties is an excellent strategic move to support our global growth because it takes several parties to establish a new business entity.
